

Dear Local Agencies and Tribes,

Earlier this month, FHWA and the American Association of State Highway and Transportation Officials (AASHTO) finalized an agreement for a project that is fantastic news for local and tribal transportation professionals. Through funding from FHWA, the agreement provides these practitioners access to the AASHTO TC3 library.

Access to the exceptional portfolio of training the AASHTO TC3 library provides advances the mission of FHWA's Center for Local Aid Support (CLAS) – providing training and technical assistance to local government and tribal transportation practitioners across the United States through the Local and Tribal Technical Assistance Programs.

AASHTO's goal with TC3 is to create and maintain a fully optimized curriculum to respond to the changing needs of the transportation technical workforce. Courses provided by TC3 are developed through a collaboration of national best practices and a network of knowledgeable subject matter experts. This connection to practitioners ensures the curriculum informs transportation leaders with potential solutions to the challenges they face today and in the future.

So, if you are a transportation practitioner working for a local or tribal government and want to improve your construction, maintenance, and material selection processes and projects, please take the opportunity this agreement provides to access the AASHTO TC3 catalogue that provides over 120 courses and some of the best online training available anywhere. To browse and access TC3 course offerings, go to <https://tc3.transportation.org/>. To learn more about CLAS, a part of FHWA's Office of Innovative Program Delivery, go to https://www.fhwa.dot.gov/innovativeprograms/centers/local_aid/.
